DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1–3,5-23,25-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shireman et al. in U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2004/0167442 A1. The embodiment that discloses laser soldering includes heating the coil and allowing the heated portion of the coil to flow onto the elongated structural member.

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application.

Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention “by another,” or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

3. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

The following title is suggested: “Method of making a medical device”.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1725

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1-3,5-23,25-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Safarevich in U.S. Patent No. 6,061,595 in view of Omori in Japan Patent No. 58-90,389. Safarevich meets all of the limitations of the claims except Safarveich uses a laser beam to create fusion bonds by melting both workpieces. Omori teaches only melting the workpiece with the lower melting point temperature and flowing the molten material to create a mechanical bond between the workpieces. It would have been obvious to adapt Safarevich in view of Omori to provide this to create mechanical bond without having to expend the necessary energy to melt the workpiece (connector 52) with the higher melting point or larger metal mass, thereby making the bonding process more energy efficient.

Art Unit: 1725

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Safarevich et al. in U.S. Patent No. 6,373,024 has a laser welded joint.

8. Applicant is respectfully reminded to update the status of the U.S. Patent Applications listed throughout the specification and identify the applications mentioned on page 19, lines 20-25.
